By the King.

A PROCLAMATION

For Reassembling the Parliament.

CHARLES R.

WHereas Our Parliament now in being stands Prorogued till the Tenth day of October next, We having had reason to believe at the time of the said Prorogation, that Our Affairs might have permitted the Attendance of the Members of both Houses on Our Service and their own Occasions in their respective Countries, until that time: We now finding this Our Kingdom Invaded during a Treaty of Peace, and esteeming Our Self ever most safe in the Advice and Affection of Our People in Parliament, have therefore, and for divers urgent Causes moving Us thereunto, thought fit, and resolved by and with the Advice of Our Privy Council, to call together both Our Houses of Parliament; And do therefore hereby straitly Charge and Command all and every the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and all Knights of Shires, Citizens of Cities, Burgesses of Boroughs, and Barons of the Cinque-ports of this present Parliament, That they and every of them do personally appear, reassemble themselves, and give their Attendance at Westminster on the Twenty fifth day of July next, then and there to Treat and Advise of the weighty Affairs of Our Kingdom; And all Assistants of Our House of Peers, and Officers and Ministers of either House of Parliament, are hereby required and enjoyned to give their Attendance accordingly. Given at Our Court at Whitehall, the 26th day of June 1667. in the Nineteenth year of Our Reign.

God save the King.

In the SAVOY,

Printed by the Assigns of John Bill and Christopher Barker, Printers to the Kings most Excellent Majesty. 1667.

(4)